THE BEARS, PAST AND PRESENT

In the breakdown of the Bears, there have been four distinct eras, each crowned with great success—with championships. First came the era of the Early Day Bears, the team that set the pattern for all other Bear teams through the years. The Early Day Bears tied for the professional football title in 1920 and were recognized as kingpins of the West. They won the championship the following season, 1921. In 1924, the Bears defeated Cleveland in a game billed "as for the championship." Some record books recognize the Bears as 1924 champs; others give the title to Cleveland.

Next came the Red Grange Era, which established professional football as a major sport, and which stamped the Bears as a national power and gate attraction. The Bears have always drawn the crowds since 1925. The Bronko Nagurski Era followed, and the Bears ruled the roost in 1932, 1933 and 1934. Some observers rate the '34 Bears as the greatest gridron machine, even though they lost the famous "tennis shoes" game to the New York Giants.

Sid Luckman's Era began in 1939. It brought championships in 1940, 1941, 1943 and 1946, and a Western title in 1942. The 1940 Bears revolutionized football with their 73 to 0 rout of the Washington Redskins in the championship playoff, but most experts regard the '41 team as tops. They gained the name of "Super Bears." The 1941 team was only extended twice in 20 games, winning 19 out of 20. The Luckman Era ended when the Bears were beaten at Los Angeles in the Western Division playoff in 1950.

Now begins a new Era in the history of the Chicago Bears. George Halas and his aides have been planning and building for several years, and the 1954 Bears should carry the ball to the full satisfaction of the millions of fans who root for the Bears. Spearheading this year's team are such talented linemen as George Connor, Kline Gilbert, Fred Williams, Wayne Hansen, Bill Bishop, Ed Sprinkle, Larry Brink, Bill George, John Kreamcheck, John Helwig, Gerald Weatherly, and Art Davis, most of whom are worthy for all-league recognition. The backs and offensive ends follow—Billy Stone, George Blanda, Chick Jagade, Bill McColl, Jim Dooley, John Hoffman, John Dottley, Leon Campbell, Don Kindt, S. J. Whitman, and the Rookies—Zeke Bratkowski, Ed Brown, Stan Wallace, Stan Jones, Ed Meadows, Bucky McElroy, Ted Daffer, Larry Strickland, Harlon Hill, Ray Smith. Service returnees Jim Lesane and Brad Rowland figure in the picture, and later, two more Bears in service, Gene Schroeder and Herman Clark, will join the squad.

The AIM—Another brilliant era to go into the pages of Bear history to match the peerless eras of the Healeys, the Blacklocks, Lanums, Granges, Nagurskis, Manders', McAfees, Luckmans, Turners, Fortmanns and Mussos.

Jack Manders kicking field goal as Bears defeat New York Giants, 23 to 21, for championship. Carl Brumbaugh held ball, and other Bears in picture are Bill Hewitt, Joe Kopcha, Zuck Carlson and Ookie Miller.

THE FIRST BEARS

1920 * BEARS' HONOR ROLL * 1953

The following players, dating back to the first Bear team, in 1920, have made their contribution to the great success story of the Chicago Bears. They will live forever in the club's own Hall of Fame. Their respective schools, positions and the season they joined the Bears also are listed.

WORLD CHAMPIONS 1943

Jack Manders was known as "Automatic Jack," and ranks with the greatest field goal kickers of all time. He is the highest scorer in Bear history, with a 401 total. Manders was a fine runner and pass receiver, and a devastating tackler. He is associated with an engraving concern.

Red Grange was pro football's first box office attraction. He still is the most glam-orous football player of all time. His individual achievements are unequalled in football annals. Red telecasts the Bears games and conducts the Bear Quarterback TV show. He is a successful business man. Bronko Nagurski was almost a one man show. He probably was the most powerful athlete ever to step on a gridiron. Although he had retired at the end of the 1937 cam-paign, Bronk came back in 1943 to lead the Bears to another world championship.

Carl Brumbaugh was one of the greatest of Bear quarterbacks. He was tops as a field general. Grange, Nagurski, Manders et al rate him as one of the brainiest quarterbacks in football history. Carl has had considerable experience in coaching.

Bill Karr came up as a rookie in 1933 and helped the Bears win the world title. He was both a great pass receiver and a fine defensive end. The array of Hewitt, Karr and Johnsos gave the Bears one of the greatest end corps in the game.

end who played both ways for the Bears in spite of his size. He was a member of the University of California coaching staff and now is in business in California. Beattie Feathers was one of the greatest Beattle Feathers was one of the greatest running backs in NFL history. He set a ground gaining mark of 1004 in 1934 even though he missed the final three games. That mark held for ten years. The back-field of Brumbaugh, Feathers, Manders and Nagurski was one of football's best.

Musso

Ray Nolting starred for a number of seasons and was one of football's greatest "quick opening" backs. Nolting stepped in to fill the shoes of Beattie Feathers in 1935, and was with the Bears when they routed Washington, 73 to 0 in 1940.

George Musso was a fighting captain and a "man mountain" guard. Known as "Moose," he possessed a tremendous charge and was one of the Bears' key linemen for ten seasons. Musso is a deputy sheriff in his home town of Edwardsville, Ill., where he also operates a restaurant.

Keith Molesworth starred at halfback for the Bears in the "thirties." He also played minor league baseball, and later was backfield coach at Annapolis. "Moley" returned to the NFL last year as head coach of the Baltimore Colts. He is now executive vice president.

HALL OF FAME

Ed Healey ranks as an all-time Bear tackle. He joined the Bears in pro football's first big player deal in 1922, coming from Rock Island. Healey earned All-American recognition at Dartmouth. He is an official of the France Stone Company.

Hugh Blacklock, a regular at the Bears' Homecoming each December, will be missing this year. He passed away last June. He was the first Bear captain and one of the greatest linemen in the club's history. He had been Sheriff of Grand Rapids County (Mich.) for many years.

Bert Ingwersen was a member of the first Bear team. He is one of the nation's top college coaches, serving as line mentor at the University of Illinois.

Ken Huffine, an early-day Bear fullback, is vice president of Johns Manville. A product of Purdue University, he reached the heights in the engineering field after retiring as a player. Huffine was on the championship 1921 team.

Jake Lanum was with the 1920 Decatur Staleys, forerunners of the Chicago Bears. He played fullback. Jake is in business in nearby Indiana.

George Trafton was the first of a great line of centers. He still holds the distinction of having played more seasons than any other Bear—13. However, Bulldog Turner played in more games.

Bill Hewitt was one of the most dynamic performers ever to wear a Bear uniform. He is on everyone's all-time team. As a pass rusher, tackler, pass receiver and blocker, Hewitt had no equal as an end. He was killed in an auto crash.

Joe Kopcha was the first of a long line of Bears who became doctors. He starred at guard in the "thirties." Dr. Kopcha is prominent in Indiana medical circles as one of the state's leading obstetricians.

Paul Goebel, one of Michigan's greatest stars, joined the Bears for the Red Grange nation-wide tour in 1925. He played end. He is Mayor of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Jim McMillen played guard in the Red Grange era. He became a professional wrestler when his playing days were over, and ranked with the top grapplers in the nation. Jim referees wrestling bouts today and is a business leader in Antioch, Ill.

Hugh Gallarneau was an outstanding right halfback in 1941-42, and from 1945 through 1947, following his discharge from Service. His great ball carrying supplemented the Luckman-Kavanaugh aerial combine in the '46 title drive. Hugh is merchandise manager, men's division, at Marshall Field & Co.

Bill Osmanski was with the title teams of 1940-41-43 and '46. He is in the Bears' Fullback Hall of Fame, along with Nagurski, Chic Harley, Norm Standlee and others. Served with the Navy in World War Two, and today is one of Chicago's foremost dentists.

George McAfee, the willo-the-wisp, the most feared man in football in 1941. World War Two stopped McAfee from establishing a record that might have lived forever in professional football. No one, before him, or since, has been so sensational. Records never will show his greatness.

Johnny Siegal followed Sid Luckman from Columbia University to the Bears. He was one of Sid's favorite targets. One of six great Bear ends in 1941. Today—a prominent dentist in Plymouth, Penna.

Kavanaugh

Stydahar

George Wilson captained several of the greatest Bear teams. His key block in the famous 73 to 0 rout of the Washington Redskins helped shake Bill Osmanski loose for the first touchdown. Member of Detroit Lions coaching staff.

Gary Famiglietti was one of the Big Four Fullbacks in 1941—Osmanski, Standlee, Maniaci and Famiglietti. His great running in 1942 helped the Bears finish the regular season unbeaten-untied. He is in business in Chicago.

N.F.L. RULES AND OFFICIALS

No one, not even the great players . . . Luckman, Baugh, Van Buren, Nagurski, Grange, Battles, Hutson . . . has made a greater contribution to the high standard of football played in the National Football League today than E. L. "Shorty" Ray.

The club owners, the coaches, the players, the sports writers have known through the years what "Shorty" Ray has meant to the National Football League. Through his untiring efforts, the NFL boasts the finest football ever played. He is the man who streamlined the football they play in the National Football League today. It is because of "Shorty" Ray that there are more minutes of actual play in NFL games than in any college game. He introduced "Football For The Fans," and the present caliber of play in the NFL will always be known as "Shorty Ray's Kind of Football."

Besides revamping the National Football League rules and playing code, "Shorty" Ray also put into effect the present officiating system. The NFL referees, umpires, field judges, head linesmen and back judges work as teams. "Shorty" retired two years ago, and his work is being carried out by Carl Rebele, with William Downes assisting.

The great football being played in the National Football League today is a glowing tribute to the genius of a man few football fans know . . . E. L. "Shorty" Ray.

Bears' Coaching Staff

Luke Johnsos

To the coaching staff of the Chicago Bears should go much of the credit for the streamlined football now being played in professional, collegiate and high school football. The Bears have set the pattern for more than two decades. The Bears' Coaching Staff was first with the modern T-Formation with Man In Motion, and first with most of the innovations which followed. The Bears were the only team in major football using the modern "T" back in the Twenties. They revolutionized the game with this Total Offense system, and crowned the efforts through the years with a sensational 73 to 0 victory over the Washington Redskins on December 8, 1940.

The rest of the football world got into step. Stanford University adopted the "T" and won the Rose Bowl. Two years later, Notre Dame "junked" the famed Rockne shift and put in the Bears' system. Within three more years, virtually every football team in the land was using the "T"... the Bears' "T". As a result, Bear graduates have been sought from coach to coach as coaches. Seventeen former Bear players are associated with the geogleting etaffs of the 12 National Football League clubs.

ciated with the coaching staffs of the 12 National Football League clubs.

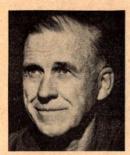

The Bears' 1954 staff consists of George Halas, head coach; Luke Johnsos, Clark Shaughnessy, Paddy Driscoll and Phil Handler, assistants. In addition, Sid Luckman helps coach the quarterbacks, and Bulldog Turner acted as center coach during the training season.

GEORGE S. HALAS Has been head coach of the Bears all but six seasons. Born in Chicago on Feb. 2, 1895. Entered University of Illinois in September, 1914. Earned letters in baseball, basketball and football. Captained cage team and was outstanding member of Bob Zuppke's football squad in 1915-16 and '17. Joined Navy in World War I and played on famous Great Lakes team which won Service championship and defeated Mare Island in Rose Bowl.

Joined N. Y. Yankees in 1919 and was a spring training sensation before suffering leg injury. Played pro football with Hammond that fall. Joined E. A. Staley Company of Decatur, Ill., in 1920. Organized the famous Decatur Staleys, who tied for the title that fall. Moved club to Chicago in 1921, where it became known as the Chicago Bears. Halas played end and coached the team until 1930, when Ralph Jones took over the head coaching reins. Halas returned as head coach in 1933. He served with the Navy in World War 2 from November, 1942, through 1945. Returned in 1946 to lead the Bears to another world title. The Halases have a son and daughter.

Born in Chicago and attended Schurz High School before entering Northwestern University. Won honors in baseball and football in 1926-27 and '28 and received trial with Cincinnati Reds in 1929. Decided to give up diamond and joined Bears that fall as an end. Starred for seven seasons, teaming together with Bill Hewitt to form one of the top end combinations in football. Named all-league in 1933.

Appointed assistant coach in 1937. Has been associated with six Bear championship teams either as player or coach. Johnsos and Hunk Anderson directed the Bears as co-coaches when George Halas was called to active duty by the Navy. They were at the helm for the remaining part of the 1942 season, and during all of 1943, 1944 and 1945. Johnsos, a recognized keen student of football strategy, is a strict "T" coach. Luke is the club's "champion father" with five children, four girls and a boy.

BEAR DOWN, CHICAGO BEARS

This is the official song of the Chicago Bears. The lyrics and music were written by Jerry Downs.

BEAR DOWN—CHI-CA-GO BEARS,
Make every play clear the way to vic-to-ry;
BEAR DOWN—CHI-CA-GO BEARS,
Put up a fight with a might so fear-less-ly.
We'll never forget the way you thrilled the na-tion,
With your "T" For-ma-tion.
BEAR DOWN—CHI-CA-GO BEARS,
And let 'em know why you're wear-ing the crown;
You're the pride and joy of II-li-nois.
CHI-CA-GO BEARS—BEAR DOWN!

BEARS-IRON MEN

The 1925 Chicago Bears were the real Iron Men of modern day football. Featuring Red Grange, who joined the squad on Thanksgiving Day, the Bears of that season played seven games in nine days, for an all-time record. Three of the games were played on successive afternoons. The Bears of 1925 played in Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago from December 5th to December 13th.

ANNUAL ARMED FORCES BENEFIT FOOTBALL SERIES

The Armed Forces Benefit Football game was inaugurated in 1946; following a meeting in Washington attended by Dwight D. Eisenhower, then head of the Army; Admiral Chester Nimitz, representing the Navy; the Air Force head, General Ira Eaker, George Halas and Ralph Cannon, then sports editor of the Chicago Herald-American.

The official relief agencies of the Army, Navy and Air Force share in the proceeds. To date, eight games have netted the Army Emergency Relief, the Navy Relief Society and the Air Force Aid Society $356,928.38.

Specifically, benefit game funds help the Armed Forces official relief agencies to provide: financial assistance to widows and orphans of servicemen ... care and assistance to service personnel, to wounded servicemen and their families ... hospital-medical attention to needy families and dependents of servicemen ... pre-natal and obstetrical care to needy servicemen's families ... and cash grants to service personnel and dependents in emergencies.
